Amman, Jordan

The RASED's Coalition for Monitoring Parliamentary Elections followed the second day of the candidate registration process through 180 field monitors, and the monitoring results indicated that 220 electoral lists were registered by 2 pm in all electoral districts across Jordan.

It turned out that the highest electoral districts for lists were Karak's district with 16 electoral lists, followed by Amman's second district with 15 electoral lists, then by Balqa's district with 14 electoral lists, while the Southern Badia's district had the lowest number of electoral lists with 4.

At the level of candidates, a total of 1,176 candidates, including 245 women candidates, applied for candidacy, and Karak's district was the highest in receiving applications for candidacy with 137 candidates, then followed by the Balqa's district with 126 candidates, while the Southern Badia's district had the least number of candidacy registration application with 15 female candidates.

In this context, RASED publishes the names of the preliminary lists for candidates, and RASED emphasizes that the lists are kept up-to-date.
